DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Applicant amended claim 3 to include the subject matter of claim 1 since the previous Office action indicated allowability of the claim in combination of the base claim. Upon a review, however, the indicated allowability was premature as a new prior art describing the claimed invention has been found. Claim 3 is rejected in light of the finding of the new prior art reference as set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Rhee et al (US 6,269,129).

Rhee et al describes an encoder, see Fig. 2a, for encoding a first bit stream (216,2180) comprising;

Means (204) for generating a second bit stream, the second bit stream having one or more different corresponding bit values than the first bit stream (since the first bit stream has been encoded) and

Means (206,208) for encoding the second bit stream, wherein

Art Unit: 2638

The means for generating the second bit stream is a differential encoder, thus reading on the limitation that the means "comprises at least one of a ones complementer and a differential encoder."

Allowable Subject Matter
